C.P.R. SENDS PLANS

FOR C. & E. EXTENSION TO EDMONTON.

Plans Received for the Route Desired by the Canadian Pacific for their Entrance into the City.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Co. has forwarded to the registry office here for registration the plans for an extension of the Calgary and Edmonton line into Edmonton, which involves the question of a high bridge across the river at a point near the foot of Tenth street. While no mention is made in the plans of a bridge, the route leads directly across the river in such a way as to necessitate the erection of a high level bridge from bank to bank. Briefly the proposed line runs in a northwesterly direction from the present Strathcona station to Legal street, thence crossing the river runs northerly in Block Nine, crosses Jasper avenue, and enters the unsubdivided H.B. property lying north of Jasper avenue and bounded on the east and west by Ninth and Thirtieth streets.

DETAILED PLAN OF ROUTE.

The extension begins at a point north of Whyte avenue in Block K, Strathcona, just north of the present Strathcona station, crosses West Railway street at Lumsden avenue, Main street at Giesbach avenue, and runs northwest through the Margaret McDonald farm, John Walter's property to the Roman Catholic mission property at Legal street, thence north across the river to the Edmonton side.

On the north or Edmonton side of the Saskatchewan river, the line runs across the H. B. Co's reserve, passing the old fort some 400 feet to the west and enters block Nine of the Edmonton H. B. survey, at Saskatchewan avenue, running between Ninth and Tenth streets to Jasper, where the line cuts across the corner of Tenth street and Jasper avenue to the unsubdivided H. B. block and up to Mackenzie avenue.

The following property is traversed by the proposed line.

WHAT THE HERALD THINKS OF EDMONTON.

From the Calgary Herald:

The Liberal press that stands for coercion in the west is very positive in the assertion that the country could not complain over the terms of the autonomy bills since the measure has been approved by the vote of the Oliver constituency. The Free Press of Wednesday discusses the subject in this light and insists that the government opened the Edmonton constituency to good faith and gave the west a fair chance to express its conviction.

"This is a representative constituency of the west and therefore its voice is a fair test of the sentiment of the west." This is the conclusion of the Free Press.

The Herald denies that the Oliver constituency is a "representative constituency." The Free Press is not accurately informed when it makes such a declaration. The Herald denies that it is fair to ask the country to accept this decision.

Is there an intelligent Canadian in the Dominion who will read with complacency the list of voters from a south to the Edmonton riding, where, out of 109, 87 voted, and of these 82 supported the new Minister of the Interior.

These are Galicians, recent arrivals in Canada, and there are many more thousands of them on whose judgment the Canadians of the west are to be deprived of self-government.

The government at Ottawa submitted the coercion bill to them and invited them to say whether it was constitutional or not, and, if so, whether its policy is correct. Messrs. Frisli, Demko, Roschuk, et al., have decided, via the support they gave Mr. Oliver, that the bill is all right. It is according to the British North America Act and the British Constitution. After these judges have so decided, the other Liberals at Ottawa think the objections and criticisms of Canadians should cease.

REPORT WAS INACCURATE

The report yesterday that the Edmonton football team had won first place at Calgary, was in error. The Albertan "true" sums up the day's events in football:

"The Caledonians were the real thing in the football contests yesterday. They played two games, winning both, scoring eight goals during the day to nil by their opponents. The first game was between the Caledonians and their old rivals the Adeleids. The second game was against Edmonton."

Edmonton afterwards defeated the C. F. R. team, winning second place in the tournament.

The city team returned from Calgary last night. The boys wish to make known the hearty reception they received from the Calgary Fire Department and the Caledonian football club, the latter giving them a grand smoking concert on Wednesday evening. The Caledonians are a strong team and the boys expect to bring them up when the citizens can expect a first-class exhibition of football.

REQUISITION ACCEPTED.

Mr. J. R. Boyle of the firm of Taylor, Boyle and Garvey, has received a largely signed requisition from electors of the provincial constituency of Sturgeon, asking him to become a candidate in that constituency in the first provincial election. Mr. Boyle's acceptance follows:

Edmonton, May 25, 1905.

John Fielders, Esq.

Popular Lake.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your favor of the 24th inst., enclosing requisition, largely signed by the electors of the provincial constituency of Sturgeon requesting me to become a candidate for that constituency in the first provincial election. I may say that I feel very much honored by the receipt of such a very large and representative requisition and will accept the same.

As I presume the provincial elections will be conducted on party lines I think it only fair to say, that, if elected, I shall give an independent support to the Liberal party in provincial politics.

As to your request that this requisition be published, you have my consent to publish the requisition together with this letter.

Sincerely yours, J. R. BOYLE.

The Resources of Athabasca.
Ottawa, May 16th.—W. P. Bredin, of Bredin and Cornwall, Peace river, is at present in the city. He was interviewed by your correspondent in regard to the natural resources and development of the country north of and tributary to Edmonton. "The Grand Trunk Pacific," said Mr. Bredin, "will pass through Athabasca for a distance of 100 miles on its way to the Peace river pass and the Pacific ocean. The survey shows that it will run within 25 miles of the Peace river. The intervening country between the railway and the Peace is well adapted for general settlement. The whole trade of the Peace and Mackenzie districts will go by the Peace river as soon as the transcontinental line passes through Athabasca. The waters of the Peace are navigable from the foot of the Rocky mountain portage at Hudson Hope to the Chutes below Vermilion a distance of 200 miles by river, below the Chutes it is navigable for a distance of 300 miles to Smith's Landing. Below Fort Smith which is at the north end of Smith's Rapids, there is uninterrupted navigation for 1,300 miles into the Arctic ocean. This line of navigation connects at Chipewyan with the Athabasca lake and at Fort Resolution with Great Slave lake. At Fort Norman on the Mackenzie river, by making use of Bear river, it connects with the navigation of Great Bear lake. Great Bear lake is now estimated by geographers as the fifth largest lake in the world. The navigation is good for steamboats in the river from the time the ice goes out in the spring until the fall. The ice disappears about the 15th of April and the river closes about the end of November.

WELL ADAPTED FOR SETTLEMENT

"The country lying along the Peace river is well adapted for settlement. The navigable waters of the Peace start in British Columbia west of the Rockies. There is steamboat navigation 70 miles west of the mountains where the Finlay and the Parsnip rivers come together. Each of these is navigable for 100 miles for 75 miles above their confluence. The Peace river is the most southern one on this continent which has its source west of the Rockies. There is a big timber on the river west of the mountains, also on the Finlay and the Parsnip. Last year there was a great many remaining claims located near Mount Selwyn, at the influence of the Finlay and Parsnip there is a large tract of very fine farming lands.

"What about the settlements on the Peace river east of the Rockies?"
"At Moberly lake near Hudson's Hope, there is the nucleus of a white and half breed settlement. There is also a settlement at St. John. This is the headquarters for 'D' divers of the Royal North West Mounted police which is now engaged in surveying and building an overland route to the Yukon. St. John is their base. At this point there is a large fur trade with the Beaver Indians, who hunt north to the Nelson river. The firms engaged in this trade are the Hudson's Bay company, Bredin and Cornwall, and D. Desjardis. There are

LARGE DEPOSITS OF IRON

and bituminous coal a few miles up the river. There are Roman Catholic and English church missions. At Dunvegan, 120 miles below St. John, farming has been carried on for 100 years, first by the Northwest company and afterwards by the Hudson's Bay company. Fifteen miles south of Dunvegan is the Spirit river settlement, containing about 25 settlers, who farm quite extensively and have large herds of cattle and horses. Farming has been carried on here for 18 years very successfully. There is a Presbyterian mission, a Roman Catholic mission and Hudson's Bay Co. and Bredin and Cornwall posts. Sixty miles south is the celebrated Grand Prairie. It is a beautiful rolling, well watered country 25 miles north and south and 25 miles east and west. Here there is a Roman Catholic mission and two trading posts and farming has been carried on successfully for five years. Bredin and Cornwall have a large cattle and horse range at this place. The average feeding season for the last five winters has been six weeks each winter. The shinnok winds blow strongly over the country. The Grand Trunk Pacific will run through the prairie. Sturgeon lake is 40 miles south of the Smoky river. The Grand Trunk Pacific will pass close to the lake. White fish are plentiful and the surrounding country is excellent for settlement. The soil is good and vegetables grow well. This is a half breed Indian settlement, with a Roman Catholic mission and three trading posts.

PEACE RIVER CROSSING

"Eighty miles below Dunvegan in Peace River settlement where there are two flour mills, one circular saw mill, two shingle mills, and one planing mill. There is a Church of England mission and Roman Catholic mission. W. H. Carson, who comes from the county of Russell has one of the grist mills and shingle mills. Mr. Carson will have 100 acres under wheat this year. The Roman Catholic mission has the other grist mill and a shingle and planing mill. A large farmer and stock raiser is Alan Helek, who cultivates 150 acres and has a steam thrasher. The shingle and planing mills were built by the waterous company of Bradford, Ont. There is connected with the Roman Catholic mission a propeller steam boat, which plies between Hudson's Hope and the Chutes. At this settlement wheat oats and barley have been raised for a great many years. There are 250 people in the settlement, and about thirty settlement claims located. To my own knowledge corn has ripened at this

A MELLOW TASTING SMOKE

THE tobacco plant is extremely sensitive to soil and climate.

There are certain localities in the world where tobacco grows. Because of the climate and soil of these districts the tobacco of each is peculiarly adapted to certain and different uses.

Thus the Burmese leaf makes a good cheroot—from Virginia and Turkey we get good pipe tobacco—but for cigar fillers I know of no locality like the Manicaragua district, in the Province of Santa Clara, Cuba.

The superiority of this tobacco is due entirely to the soil and climate. When I tell you that I select the best leaves of this best favored spot—you can see the reason for my Pharaoh being a superior smoke—one with an aromatic fragrance—and delicate mellow taste.

ADDITIONAL ESTIMATES

DISCUSSED IN THE HOUSE.

Hon. G. E. Foster Opposes Issue of Scrip to Canadian Born Half-Breeds who have Lived in the United States.

Ottawa, May 25th.—The supplementary estimates were discussed in the House today. The Minister of the Interior's thorough knowledge of western affairs was shown to advantage in his handling of the estimates. Mr. Foster attacked the policy of giving half breeds who went to the United States their scrip, although entitled to it before leaving Canada. Mr. Oliver maintained that rights which belonged to half breeds in Canada could not and ought not to be taken away because of a change of location. It was the birthright of half breeds to get scrip.

WEDDING AT STONY PLAIN

(Contributed)

A very pleasing event took place at the home of the bride's father, Mr. John McDonald, Stony Plain, on the 17th inst. The contracting parties were Miss Annie Loretha McDonald and Mr. Thomas L. Merrick of Stony Plain. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Mr. Baird. The bride, who was becomingly dressed in gray cascade, grained with white satin and ribbon was attended by her sister Miss Annie McDonald, while Mr. Biram Merrick escorted the groom. After the marriage ceremony had been performed, the many guests sat down to the well laden table of good things, which the generous host had provided, and so which all did ample justice. The toast "The Bride and Groom" was responded to by the Rev. Mr. Baird. The remainder of the evening was spent in songs, speeches and dancing. The dancing in which most interest was taken were the Irish jig, the clog, sword dance, Highland fling and Highland schottische. Thus a very enjoyable evening ended and the company dispersed at the wee small hours, wishing the newly married couple a happy and prosperous journey through life.

UNCLAIMED CHEQUES FOR ALBERTA PEOPLE.

The Territorial deputy treasurer has sent out the following circular: "Below will be found a list of names to whom cheques have been issued by the Treasury Department of the North-West Government, giving the number of the cheques, the amount, and year when issued. It will be noticed some of them have been long outstanding. In some cases the cheques have been returned by the postoffice authorities and are at the present time in the hands of the Treasury Department. It is the desire of the North-West Government to try to locate the parties interested, that payment may be made before the dissolution of the Territorial Government by the creation of the new Provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta. If this should meet the eye of any one who is either interested himself or on behalf of friends, the Government would be pleased if attention would be directed toward the payment of these cheques before July 1st next. Notices have been sent by registered mail to the last known address of each of the names mentioned."

roar of it can be heard a long distance before the well is reached. It was present when the gas was struck and the derrick was spattered all over with oil. This well was sunk under the direction of W. A. Fraser, the well-known author.

GRAND RAPIDS.

Forty miles below Pelican are the Grand rapids. Here all the goods for the north are crated across an island, on which there is a tramway, and reloaded into boats and run 80 miles down through the Athabasca rapids to Fort McMurray, which is at the confluence of the Clear Water and Athabasca rivers. Natural gas flows out of the Athabasca, between Grand Rapids and Fort McMurray, and below the latter the shore consists of, naturally formed asphalt for one hundred miles. At Fort McMurray the steamers from Smith's Landing and Chipewyan meet the freight and take it north. Clear Water is on the old route from Montreal to the Athabasca and Peace rivers, and is also the route followed by Sir Alexander Mackenzie when he discovered the Mackenzie river and made his overland trip to the Pacific in the latter part of the eighteenth century. It was also the route taken by Sir John Franklin, on one of his explorations, and afterwards by Lieut. Black and Dr. Rae, who went in search of Franklin. There are two trading posts here. From this point Smith's Landing is a distance of three hundred miles. Steamboat navigation is good. The Hudson Bay Co. Helio and Nacole, Colin Fraser, and the Roman Catholic mission, the steamers, travel over this three hundred miles. Sixteen miles below Fort McMurray is Port McKeen, where there are three concerns trading with the Indians, 184 miles below Port McKeen and on Lake Athabasca is Port Chipewyan, the centre of the great fur-bearing region of Athabasca Lake. Here there are two large stores, Protestant and Roman Catholic missions, a saw mill, shingle mill and a farm worked by the Roman Catholic mission, on which wheat was grown that received a gold medal at the Centennial exhibition at Philadelphia in 1876. The country to the east of Port Chipewyan is of the Laurentian formation, the same as that of the Lake of the Woods, and is heavily mineralised. Leaving Port Chipewyan by the Slave River we can reach the Peace River known from here to the Great Slave Lake as the Slave river, which we follow 80 miles to Smith's Landing. This eastern bank of the river is the western limit of the Laurentian formation, and on the western bank the country is alluvial. Lake Athabasca is one of the great fish lakes of the north, white fish and lake trout being very plentiful.

FOURTEEN-MILE PORTAGE.

Smith's Landing is the beginning of a portage 14 miles in length to pass the rapids on Slave river. Here the river cuts through the Caribou mountains. Smith's Landing is a very important steamboat point, for the west and south. At the other end of this portage is Fort Smith close to the 56th parallel of latitude, which is the Northern boundary of Alberta. West of Fort Smith grows the only wild herd of buffalo on the American continent. These buffalo have been there from time immemorial which goes to show that there is good herbage and that the climate is favorable. A few miles west of Fort Smith is Salt river along the banks of which salt springs exist and from which the salt supply for the Great Slave Lake and Mackenzie river region is obtained. The salt is in springs, and forms natural evaporating pans, and all that one has to do is to shovel into a bag whatever is required for consumption. It is one of the purest salts that can be obtained, free from soda. Fort Smith is also the head of navigation for the Mackenzie river and Great Slave Lake fleet of steamers. On this water course the Hudson's Bay Company has 410 foot screw steamer, the Wrigley, Hislop and Nagle have two screw steamers, the Eva and the Swallow. The Roman Catholic mission has also a screw steamer. The Church of England mission at Hay river has a screw steamer, while two small screw steamers are owned by private parties. Fort Smith is the most southern point to which the Inconnu fish reach. This is a large silver scale white fleshed salmon which comes in from the Arctic and which is not found in any other waters in the world, hence the name, "unknown." Two hundred miles below this is Great Slave Lake, which, when surveyed, may be found to be as large as Lake Superior. All the country between Edmonton and the Mackenzie river is underlaid with fuel oil, the same as found in Southern California and Texas. The by-product of it is asphalt, which will permit the towns to the different transcontinental railways to be paved very cheaply. The fish wealth of the Mackenzie river basin which includes the Athabasca, Peace, and Laird rivers is probably more than all the rest of the world put together.

"In conclusion," said Mr. Bradin, "here are two photographs, one taken at Great Horn on the Mackenzie river, within fourteen miles of the Arctic circle, of a field of potatoes, which were could not be in Ontario, and the other shows a potato digging scene of the Rev. Mr. Marsh's Anglican mission at the mouth of the Hay river and Great Slave Lake. Both of these agricultural scenes are in the provincial district of Mackenzie to the north of what will be the northern boundary of Alberta."
